

"Hitch Your Wagon To A Star"

Emerson

Man's desire to live a purposeful life inspires him to seek something that is worthy of pursuit. Because there is a definite goal for each man, the choice of this goal lies with the individual. Searching for one's destination is often a difficult task, but once the discovery is made a new world is opened. This new world points upward to the goal which is as high as the sky. It is a star.

"Ideals Are Like Stars; Choose Them As Your Guides"

Schurz

To reach his goal, man must utilize the heritage of his times. The inheritance from past generations is of vast importance in his striving, for it is the cornerstone upon which mankind erects his stairway. The task of engineering this approach encompasses a wide variety of tools. The number and complexity of the tools increases as one ascends toward his star.

Chemistry experiments often provided colorful results.

Study Provides Food

The sureness of man's steps in his climb hinges upon the food acquired. The mind needs food for its development; but in order to have the stamina needed, one must feed his physical body too. Having procured these means of advancement man embarks on his journey to the stars.

"Glittering Like A Morning Star . . .

The light from one's star scatters over many different areas of school life. The focus of the rays centers on the flurry of the homecoming game and dance. The effervescence felt by all is symbolized by the sparkle of the queen's crown. But remember, the whole is only as brilliant as the segments used in its construction. . . .

Students Shine In Activities

Senior home economics students stage a wedding reception.

Other shafts of light emitted by this star fall on the activities of the various clubs. Each club has its own purpose toward which it strives, but all must use the same devices to arrive at their destinations. The success of each organization lies with the individuals. This relationship extends to the point that each man gives aid to all.

Banquets are a traditional part of many clubs' activities.

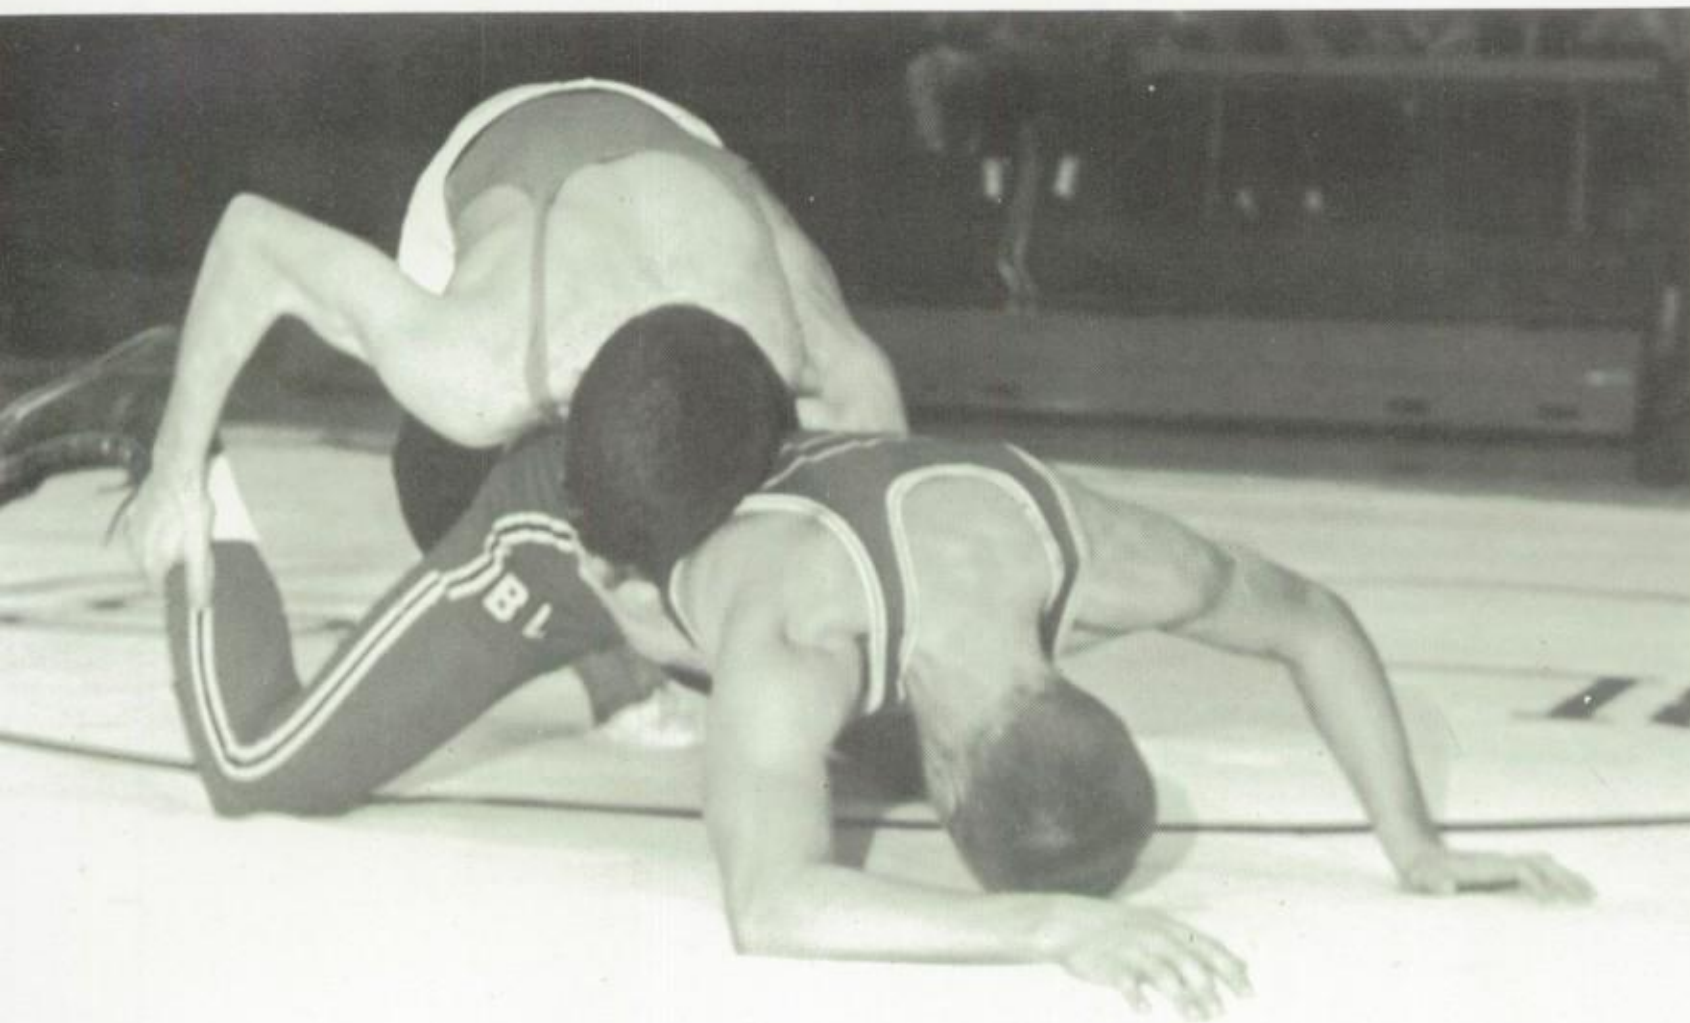

Football practice begins in the summer as the team strives for a successful season.

Another beam of light illuminates the field of sports. The rays focus on the successes; but one must look behind these into the shadows, where weeks of hard work and some disappointments combine to form the publicized accomplishments. . . .

The star chosen as a goal instills the desire to excel. The greatness of the star demands that man achieve perfection in his efforts. Integrity is the key to this endeavor. The adherence to such a code may bring public recognition to one's efforts, but this acknowledgment is not important. The true reward comes from the realization that one has lived up to his highest standard.

Prom Radiates From Captivated Hearts

Other rays of light emitted by this star add sparkle to one's life. A significant portion of this glitter is captured by the prom. The intoxicating fragrance of flowers mingles with the subtle swish of formals to bring an air of enchantment to the evening. The thrill of the prom lifts one's spirits to such heights that his goal shines brighter.

The Future Begins Now

Graduation is the climax of one's high school life, but it is only a resting place in one's perpetual climb to the star. This resting place is a plateau, a place to reflect on one's past experiences and use them to steady his steps. Graduation, the recognition of one's efforts, adds to the purpose of his life and makes his goal more attainable. The door is open, step forward.

E. R. MALONE
Superintendent
B.S., Ohio Northern University
M.S., in Education
University of Akron

As superintendent and general administrator of the six city schools, Mr. E. R. Malone has completed his twelfth year in the North Canton School System. Confronted by innumerable, time-consuming tasks and responsibilities, he has efficiently met such demands as the hiring of personnel, administering educational policies, and promoting good relationships between the educational system and general public.

Mr. Charles E. Ballinger, assistant superintendent, ended his second year at Hoover High School. His major responsibilities included the planning of the curriculum, improving instruction techniques, and the reviewing of texts.

The administration broadened the fine arts program by introducing an art course in the high school and extending to a greater degree this program throughout the school district.

Mrs. Pearl W. Brown, secretary to Mr. Malone and Mr. Ballinger, has proved to be of invaluable service to the office. Her wide range of duties included keeping personnel records, issuing invoices for educational equipment and supplies, and being a general receptionist.

MRS. PEARL BROWN
Secretary, Superintendent's Office

Heading the North Canton School System is the five-member Board of Education. Its members determine salaries, approve the selection of teachers, and work to set educational standards for North Canton youth.

Mr. Robert P. Braucher, the clerk-treasurer, and Mrs. Valerie M. Tucker, the board's full-time secretary and bookkeeper, take care of the extensive book work.

Board Represents Citizens' Opinion

No one task represented the busy and diversified schedule of Mr. H. Wayne Russell, principal of Hoover High School. This year surveying new educational programs and devising a beneficial curriculum for all students with the new I.B.M. system were among his many responsibilities.

As assistant principal, Mr. Donald C. LaHue performed a great variety of tasks. These included keeping attendance records, and serving as head of the Math Department, and advising the Student Council.

Secretaries Assist School Administrators

Typing transcripts, sending correspondence and ordering materials were among the many duties of Miss Mabel L. Studer. Permanent records of every student who ever attended a North Canton high school were also in her charge. When not busy with these jobs, she performed any one of numerous other tasks.

Mrs. Elizabeth J. Williams, the attendance secretary, had a new office and a host of new duties this year. She kept pupil attendance records and performed many other tasks to alleviate Mr. La-Hue's work load. Among these were handling the student insurance program and banking all school monies.

Attendance records and receptionist duties constitute the bulk of Mrs. Williams' work.

Miss Studer, the principal's personal secretary, also tends the main office and handles permanent records of the student body.

Guidance Counselors Help Students Plan Future

Assistance to juniors and seniors in choosing a college was the major job of the Guidance Department this year. It included personal conferences, speakers, records, and films representing various colleges.

This department, under the direction of Mr. Richard L. Armstrong and Mrs. JoAnn Eckels, offered to freshmen instruction in the use of the library, speed-reading courses, and aptitude tests. Seniors were given special attention in choosing a college and obtaining facts on scholarships and loans.

For those entering a vocation or trade immediately following graduation, the guidance office co-operates with the Ohio State Employment Service in testing and placing applicants.

Along with her other office duties, Mrs. Pauline R. Kolp, guidance office secretary, answered the telephone, handled all correspondence for both Mr. Armstrong and Mrs. Eckels, and kept all personal records and forms of students in attendance at Hoover.

Study carrels and an expanded periodical room, vertical file, and card catalogue were additions to the newly enlarged library. As head librarian, Mrs. Martha B. Hammack ordered and processed library materials and worked with teachers. Mrs. Marian M. Millar, the library assistant, helped with the vertical file and catalogued books.

The enlarged library offers more study space and better facilities for all Hoover students.

Artistic Endeavors Express Creativeness

Sunny days often found the art students outside painting different scenes around the school. During the colder months they worked on sketchings, portraits, paintings, basket weaving, and embroidering projects. Besides keeping their own show case filled with interesting creations, they decorated the library cases and bulletin boards.

Offered for the first time this year, the creative arts and art appreciation courses provided a rewarding experience for the creative student.

Theory Teaches Composition

Mr. Martin P. Alexander instructed the three-year music theory course. First year students began by singing intervals and writing chords. They progressed to composing four-measure units consisting of four voice lines. Second-year students who have perfected these fundamentals set a favorite poem to music. As a year assignment, advanced students wrote a song cycle for either a solo voice or instrument.

Annual Staff Accepts Responsibility Of Hard Work

Art editor, Diane Schmidt, submits the design for the cover and divider pages to co-editors, Lynne Bell and Barb Sheatsley.

Last spring the newly-selected annual staff assembled to plan the production of the 1966 yearbook. They chose a theme, and co-editors began planning the layout.

Although the co-editors worked during the summer, actual composition did not begin until autumn. The staff took pictures, wrote copy, drew page layouts, and solicited advertisements. The addition of color pictures was a first in Hoover High yearbook history.

With the distribution of the annual in the spring, a year of hard work ended as a lifetime of memories began.

Journalists Exercise One Of Democracy's Basic Freedoms

Although they had several close calls, the journalism staff always managed to meet the deadlines. Publishing the Viking Views kept them busy during the first semester, but later they took time to study such specialized areas as typography, photography, and advertising. As a special assignment each person wrote a non-fictional article which he submitted to a magazine in the hope of acceptance.

Future journalism students learned during their junior year the fundamentals of publishing a newspaper.

Mrs. Knipfer informs inductees of their new responsibilities as members of Quill and Scroll.

A membership in Quill and Scroll, an international honor society, recognized those high school students who did outstanding work on a newspaper or yearbook.

To be eligible for membership, one must rank in the upper third of his class, have performed superior work on a school publication, be recommended by the journalism or yearbook staff adviser, and be approved by Quill and Scroll's executive adviser.

Following a buffet dinner in the school cafeteria on Feb. 17, Quill and Scroll inducted eighteen students at a candlelight ceremony. Mrs. Janet B. Immler, guest speaker, related her experiences in the field of public relations.

Mathematics Develops Clear Thinking And Sound Logic

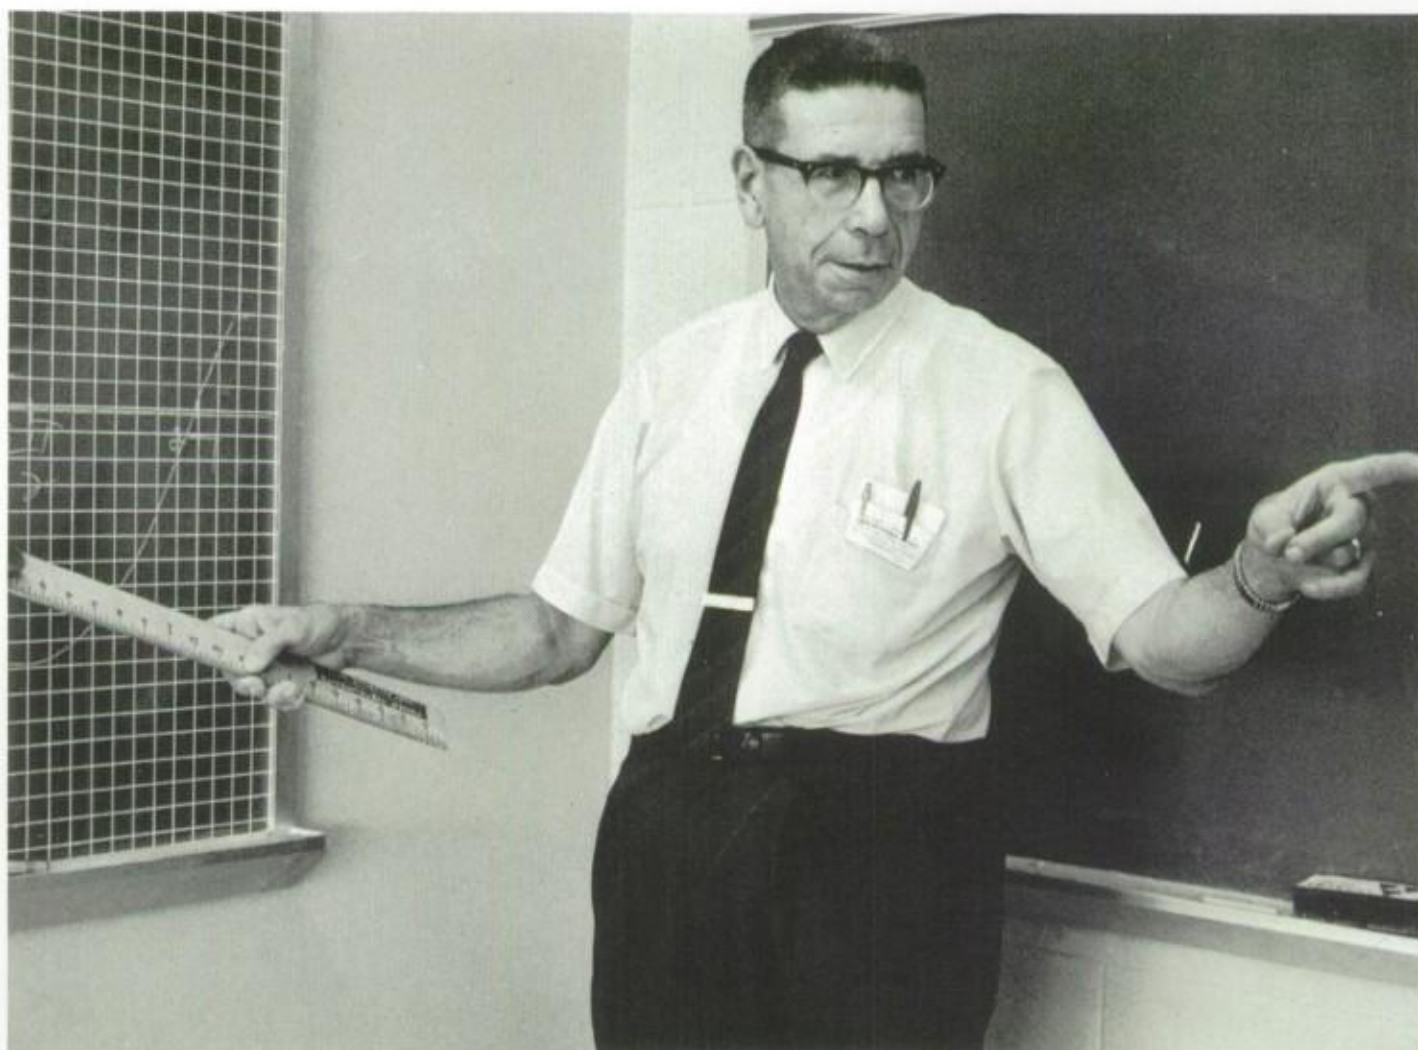

Meeting the student's needs for a challenging world was a four-year mathematics program. Freshmen learned about sets, equations, and graphs in Algebra I. Sophomores learned to think and reason logically in plane and solid geometry. Algebra II taught the juniors logarithms and the proper use of the slide rule. College math, known to seniors as senior math, gave them advanced knowledge in such areas as calculus, analytical geometry, trigonometry, and algebra.

Besides increasing a person's store of general knowledge, a foreign language broadens his understanding of other peoples' culture.

Latin stressed the fundamentals of grammar and gave insight into the origin of many English words.

Students learned, in the modern languages, the geography and history of the countries as well as the language. Publications such as La Jeunesse and Rasselband, as well as tapes in the language lab, helped increase proficiency in reading, writing, and speaking.

Literature Broadens The Horizon Of Culture

The Hoover English Department offered a well-rounded education in grammar and literature. Secretarial majors studied business English while college-bound and general-education students took the regular three or four year course. Freshmen and sophomores studied grammar and reading appreciation; juniors practiced the art of theme writing and explored American literature; seniors wrote themes, original poetry, and term papers, and pursued the study of English literature.

Freshmen Investigate World Of Science

General science students became familiar with basic scientific principles which they would later use in biology, chemistry, and physics. Their course of study included such topics as Ohm's law, heredity, and the structure of the atom. Projects at the end of the year further enriched students' scientific knowledge and demonstrated their ability to apply what they had learned in the classroom to practical situations.

Class lectures dealt with the composition and properties of matter, and reactions by which substances are produced or transformed into other substances. Organic chemistry, the study of carbon and its derivatives, was also included.

Laboratory periods provided the opportunity for students to actually observe what they studied in class. The students performed reduction-oxidation experiments, grew crystals, and analyzed unknown substances to determine their quantity and composition while conducting individual projects during the second semester.

Microchemistry was a lab innovation this year. It replaced all old equipment with new instruments of a reduced size.

In physics, the most advanced of the science courses, students investigated many of the basic laws of our universe. Those who wanted a general survey of these principles took practical physics, which dealt with the fundamental laws of electricity, sound, and machines. P.S.S.C. students were concerned mainly with the theory of laws. In both courses, lab experiments supplemented knowledge gained in the classroom and helped to clarify many important theories.

This year American history students traced the development of democracy in our country, while world history provided a view of the growth of civilization from the Egyptian period to the modern day.

Government classes studied the fundamentals of governmental structure and procedures and acquired the opportunity to gain practical experience in this field. In November a mock election was held in which students elected members of the senior class to various public offices following two weeks of vigorous campaigning. March 30, annual Senior Day, found members of the senior class acting as city and educational officials and filling all teaching positions in the school district.

Practical homemaking knowledge is put to use in home economics.

Home nursing and interior decorating comprised the major areas of study for juniors, while senior home economics classes gained experience through courses in family living and cake decorating.

Freshmen and sophomore students were concerned with the foods and clothing departments, deriving their knowledge from both textbooks and practical lab experience.

Commercial Students Prepare For A Special Future

Preparing students for immediate employment following graduation is the job of the Commercial Department. In Typing I and II, students learned to type business letters, tabulative reports, and manuscripts and at the same time worked to increase their speed and accuracy. Every curved line has a meaning to shorthand pupils who work for a speed of 120 words per minute. Those taking bookkeeping learned to keep company records and to balance books financially.

The office and secretarial practice courses gave commercial students a chance to gain some practical experience. They filed, performed clerical duties, and learned to use five business machines including a comptometer and rotary calculator.

For those students planning to enter trades, the industrial arts program provided excellent vocational preparation this year. In wood-working, beginning students learned the fundamentals of operating machines. Individual projects in this area helped to deepen students' interests and create pride in a job well done.

The graphic arts program, which was available to juniors and seniors, included printing and mechanical drawing. Printing students became familiar with typesetting and other related skills in the printing field. One of their most important tasks was the printing of note pads for teachers and programs for assemblies, as well as school stationery, assignment books, and Christmas cards.

Mechanical drawing students gained experience in both reading and making architectural drawings. They also learned the importance of neatness and accuracy in their work.

Hoover seniors Tom Hiner and Dick Hirschman work to repair a piece of electrical machinery.

Mr. Stefan adjusts the print to be sized on the new vertical picture copier.

The program of gym classes has been extended to include basketball for the girls.

Rope climbing and other exercises help to develop the physical condition of freshman girls.

Physical Education Develops Fit Bodies

Vigorous calisthenics were a sure-fire method to wake up sleepy freshmen and sophomores in first period gym classes. These exercises prepared them for the more energetic activities which included basketball, volleyball, tumbling, and baseball. Freshman girls also exercised their creativity by arranging the choreography of their own modern dances.

Committee discussions were popular in both boys' and girls' health classes. Current health articles or chapter assignments about anatomy, first-aid, or good health habits comprised the topics.

Service Personnel Make Valuable Contributions

Behind the scenes were those who chauffeured, cleaned, and cooked. Transporting students to and from school, teams to athletic events, and the band to away football games were the bus drivers' responsibilities. Besides maintaining school facilities, custodians set up bleachers and chairs for assemblies and cleaned up after school dances. Because the enlarged cafeteria utilities provided for four lunch lines rather than one, the cooks were able to serve more lunches at one time.

CUSTODIANS: T. Adams, L. Dauterman, J. Givler, B. Johns, L. Kreiner, R. Miller, C. Thurman, P. Venditti, A. Willaman, K. Willaman.

COOKS: A. Brown, D. Ditch, A. Farra, W. Fisher, R. Halter, J. Harris, I. Hirschman, L. Martz, G. Palmieri, C. Randall, J. Smith, R. Stayer, B. Willaman, D. Williams.

BUS DRIVERS: I. Allen, J. Bundy, Z. Gross, P. Levengood, D. Mortimer, E. Paige, J. Reifsnnyder, H. Rudersmith, C. Shekels, F. Stephens, A. Warfield.

Today's Mistakes

Thomas C. Acheberger

As William M. Thackeray said, "The world is a looking glass and gives back to every man the reflection of his own face." The activities of the Senior Class were fun because we wanted them to be and did our best to make them fun. We have learned only as much as we permitted ourselves to learn. Our class looks cheerfully and expectantly to the future, so the future will look brightly back at us.

We have received much advice from others and are very thankful for it. In June we leave Hoover with our diplomas, the knowledge we have attained, and memories which will be ours forever.

In Memoriam

We, the graduating class of 1966, dedicate the senior section of this yearbook to the memory of our friend and classmate, Kenneth R. Ruddock.

Juniors React To A Changing World And Increase Understanding Through Research

The class of 1967 looks back with pride to past accomplishments. Our class has proved itself capable and responsible, excelling scholastically, athletically, and musically.

We extend our appreciation to the faculty and our class advisers for their gracious help, and we look forward to our senior year and hope for continued success.

Learning Is A Guiding Light For Sophomores

Advisers give aid and counseling to the Sophomore Class.
(row one): Mr. McDowell, Miss Ketterer, Mr. Dent, Mr. Marchand. (row two): Mr. Wiandt, Mr. Barrett, Mr. Healey.

This year's Sophomore Class returned to Hoover with memories of hard work and good times. It is one of our chief goals to preserve these memories along with the high scholastic and athletic records we have achieved.

We would like to thank our teachers and classmates for the aid and good will extended to us and hope that we may do the same for others.

Freshmen Reach For The Star Of Learning

Upon entering Hoover High the 1965-66 Freshman Class looked forward to many new and rewarding experiences. The excitement and confusion of an entirely different and new school were soon overcome and we became accustomed to the routine of high school life.

Many of us joined clubs and organizations to build our interests and our characters. The Class of '69 is grateful to the teachers and guidance counselors of Hoover High School for preparing us for the years to come.

ACTIVITIES

Council Represents Student's Opinion

Each homeroom selected a representative to participate in the school's governing body, the Student Council. These representatives helped to establish a bond between the students and the faculty.

The Student Council discussed school problems and suggested changes in various school policies. They supervised the election of cheerleaders, planned homecoming activities, and selected assembly programs. This year the Council also purchased American flags for all the homerooms.

Achievement Merits Honor

Induction into the National Honor Society honors those students who best exemplify the qualities of character, scholarship, leadership, and service.

On March 2, 1966, the Society inducted 37 students from the Sophomore, Junior and Senior Classes. Parents of the inductees as well as the student body witnessed the candlelight initiation ceremony. Guest speaker for the event was Rabbi Paul Gorin of Temple Israel.

Present members of NHS escort inductees.

Rick DeBlander received recognition as "Stark County Teenager of the Month" in January.

Scholars Achieve Excellence

Academic recognition came in many forms. Three senior girls and two senior boys attended Girls' State and Boys' State, respectively, where they participated in mock political and governmental processes. The Rotary Club chose two girl exchange students to live in Australia for one year.

This year two seniors ranked as semi-finalists on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. The American Legion sponsored an Americanism test in which three of the eight Hoover winners won honors in county competition.

Two Hoover seniors received special honors. The Canton Repository Teen Panel selected one as Stark County Teenager of the Month and the other won the Betty Crocker Home Economics Award.

Martha Fessler and Gary Kyle were recognized as National Merit semi-finalists.

"Music Hath Charms

A' Cappella Choir members worked many hours to perfect numerous sacred and secular, classical and modern selections. They presented these pieces at the annual Christmas concert and in the district choir contest.

One of the high points of the year was the performance of "Amahl and the Night Visitors," a one-act opera by Gian Carlo Menotti. The Spring Sing in May, featuring songs from "The Sound of Music," climaxed the year.

The Hi-Lows, comprised of sixteen select voices, sang for various outside organizations.

With the football season at an end, Hoover band members soothed their aching feet by turning to more serious playing in the concert band. Every day was spent in preparation for the two annual concerts: the free Thank You Concert given in appreciation for the community's support through football season and the Spring Concert. Music for both concerts ranged from classical selections to light, popular songs and marches.

Mr. Hafer conducts the Freshman Band earnestly.

Roles Of Musicians Are Varied

Long hours of planning and practicing routines prepared the seven majorettes for pre-game and half-time ceremonies. Besides spending a week in training with the band at Camp Chibiabos, they attended a majorette clinic to learn new techniques.

Barbara Hilscher, completing her third year as head majorette, directed the marching band and helped the other majorettes organize routines.

The brass choir added a new and different sound to the music department this year.

Diligence in preparation brings about desired results.

Booster Club Sparks Enthusiasm

Booster Club helped bolster school spirit and enthusiasm. To aid team support, they organized a car caravan to the Timken football game, chartered a bus for the Wooster game, sold Hoover decals, and held an all-school Hush Day and Color Day. They also sponsored several social activities such as the "Maple Mood" dance, the weiner roast at the homecoming bonfire, and the annual signing party at the end of the year.

With the money earned during the year, the Booster Club bought two basketball rosters, one for the Hoover team and one for the opposing team.

The bonfire ignites the light of victory.

The Booster Club stimulates team spirit.

Secretaries Become Aware Of The Business World

Members analyze business problems.

Future Secretaries Club offered commercial students examples of prospective careers and explained what to expect from future jobs.

Programs featured speakers from various areas of the business world. Some recent Hoover graduates described their work and what their employers require of them.

Officers work at practical skills.

Home Economics Club speakers offered information on such topics as hairstyling, fashions, social work, and flower arranging which might encourage members to enter these fields.

At Christmastime the club gave gifts to a needy North Canton family, and climaxed the year with a Mother-Daughter banquet in May.

Homemakers Prepare For Future

While encouraging girls in nursing and other medical fields, the Future Nurses Club of America also promoted an interest in personal and community health. Programs included two teas, a picnic, and a trip to an orphanage.

The club invited a representative of the U.S.S. Hope and a psychiatrist to speak at two of their meetings.

FUTURE NURSES. (row one): N. Bendroth, president; M. Peters, vice president; S. Harper, treasurer; P. Sumser, secretary; J. Brinkley, L. Hubler, M. Samblant, C. Miesmer, S. Feldscher, P. Knisely. Future Teachers of America gave interested students an opportunity to learn about the aspects and advantages of the teaching profession. At the bimonthly meetings speakers from various teaching fields told about the many facets of their jobs and explained why they chose teaching as a career.

The club's special project for the year was Teaching Career Month, during which each member assisted a teacher.

Many activities including panel discussions, plays, exchange teachers, and special education classes provide interest for Future Teachers members.

Future Teachers officers discuss plans for April Teaching Career Month.

Print Club Strives For Accuracy

Print Club activities offered graphic arts students extracurricular experience in the printing field. Members sold their projects, which included Christmas cards, Christmas card lists, and stationery. With the money they earned, they bought equipment which was used by both the graphic arts classes and the club. This year the Print Club purchased a machine which enabled them to produce rubber stamps.

Through speakers, films, and club projects German Club members deepened their understanding of Germany, its language, and its culture. One of their special activities was the second year students' performance of the Christmas story in German.

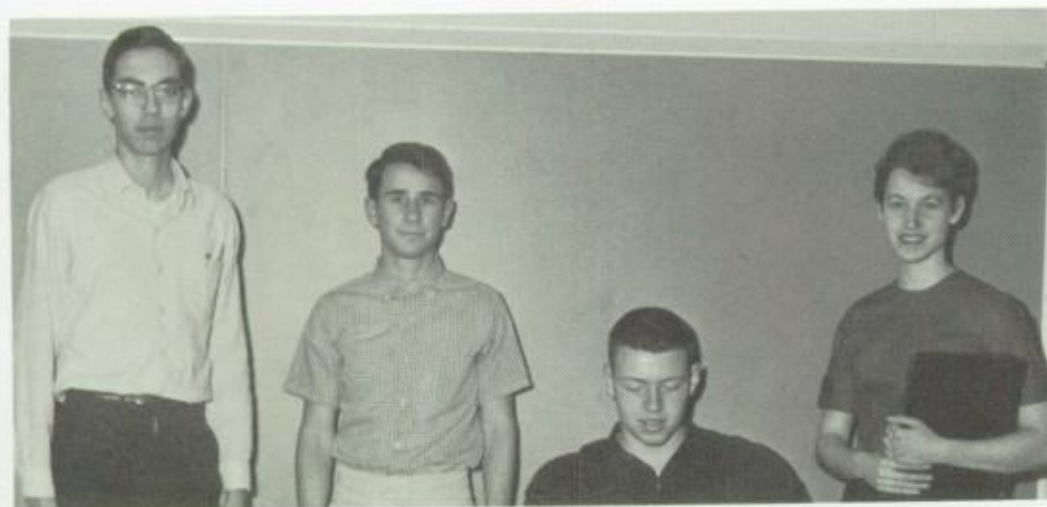

In April the club participated in the Language Fair at Malone College. This event provided an opportunity for school language clubs to display and demonstrate the facets of their particular language.

Lectures and field trips provided Mathematics Club members with a greater understanding of the world of numbers. Speakers, both teachers and members, gave information on topics like diophantine equations, divisibility of numbers, programming computers, and the theory of relativity. Field trips to the Ohio Power Company and the Lewis Research Center showed the practical application of mathematics. The year climaxed with the annual picnic at Crystal Park in Alliance.

Induction into Mu Alpha Theta, the National Mathematics Club, honored those Math Club members having taken three years of Math while maintaining a B average in all subjects.

To become a member of Thespians or National Forensic League, one must earn a certain number of points through participation in dramatic or speech events, respectively.

Under the direction of Mr. Rex K. Spaulding, Thespians, which stressed the fundamentals of acting, presented a one-act play, Impromptu, for district contest.

This year's orators debated the topic, "Resolved: That the federal government should adopt a program of compulsory arbitration in labor management disputes involving basic industries."

Varsity debaters spent many hours preparing for competition.

Cheerleaders Create An Atmosphere Of Excitement

Cheerleaders play an important part in any school's activities. This year the Viking cheerleaders played their parts fully and extremely well. The precise execution of the many and varied cheers was the result of many hours of practice. The pep rallies and the posters were the products of their organization. By their actions, the students participated and the teams benefited.

Vikings Show Intense Desire To Win

The Hoover Viking gridders, possessors of an explosive offensive attack and an adequate defense, compiled a seasonal record of 7-3 under the head coaching of Mr. Don H. Hertler. The Vikings, who averaged 26 points per contest and allowed only 13 points per game, amassed a grand total of 285 points, erasing the best offensive record of 282 points compiled under Coach Hertler in 1963.

Gridders Possess Fine Depth, Ample Ability, And Good Sportsmanship

These determined gridgers were sparked by the quarterbacking and passing of Greg Gray as well as by the running of backs Barry Miller, Dennis Sutton, Tom Ryan, and Jim Braucher. Also of merit was the pass receiving of Rick DeBlander, Dave Toole, and Jim Allen.

The linemen were sparked by the play of guards Mark Stevens and Dennis Kolp, tackles Roger Houston, Lance Hefke, and Scott Sturtz, and center Pete Gilpatric.

The Viking Jayvees, under the combined coaching of Mr. Paul MacDonald and Mr. Jack Yost, finished the season with an envious record of 8-0-1. By the playing of mainly sophomores, the football future of Hoover High can be looked upon as being extremely bright and promising. The team was led by three equally talented quarterbacks, Lee Erdman, Roger Manse, and Jim Schwab, as well as by the running of Mark Stock, leading scorer; Carter Brown, Mike Keck, Bob Dewey, and Chuck Caniford. Sparkling line play was shown by the work of Pat Martin, Greg Blue, Dan Slusser, Ron Ellis, and Rick Hilscher. Fine pass catching was attributed to John Romeo, John Kelly, Steve Edwards, and Daryl Powell.

Frosh Triumph

The Hoover High football season proved completely successful by the seasonal record that was achieved by the freshman football team. The Viking Frosh, with the fine coaching of Mr. William Dierenger and Mr. Roger Viscount, compiled a 7-1 slate. Outstanding members of the team were quarterback Greg Brown, Hank Escola, Roy Blair, Gary Schoeppner, and Bill Trumpeter.

The harriers strive for good field position.

The Cross Country team, under the helm of Coach Paul Barrett, highlighted their season by becoming district champions. The Viking Harriers were paced by the running of seniors Bob LeCount, Bill Dimit, Chick Cropley, and Dave Miller. Underclassmen also contributed immensely to the success of the team. A fine nucleus is back for next year's team and Hoover High will be proud of the Cross Country team for some time.

Freshmen players jump high in an effort to gain possession of the ball.

The reserve basketball team completed a successful season by achieving a record of 9 wins and 7 losses. Coached by Mr. Dan Tilton, the Jayvees substituted freely and succeeded in developing a fine nucleus that will bolster next year's teams.

Freshmen coach, Mr. James Boyer, plans the strategy with his starting team.

Mark Stevens' rifle shot to "Butch" Pacquin almost nails a Wadsworth opponent at third base.

The 1965 baseball team proved to be one of the best in the school's history. The Vikings under the coaching of Mr. Don Hertler and Mr. Gordon Knisely, illustrated excellent pitching and batting as well as fine speed and daring baserunning. They proved this by the pitching of two no-hitters by Jeff Myers, the slugging of top hitter Mark Stevens, and the running of speedsters Greg Gray, Rick DeBlander, and Ron Manse.

Mark Stevens, leading hitter, waits on deck as Greg Gray readies himself for the pitch.

They finished the regular season with an 18-1 record and concluded the year with a proud slate of 24-2. Accomplishments continued with the achievement of sectional as well as district championships. They finished the season by bowing to the eventual State Champions, Shaker Heights, 1-0.

Dan Storch signals a runner to hold up at third base.

Tracksters Rebuild For Future

Under the head coaching of Mr. Paul MacDonald, the Viking tracksters underwent a rebuilding season. Due to many graduating seniors, Mr. MacDonald experimented with freshmen; and the results were more than expected. Freshmen who were outstanding were Greg Perez in the half mile and Bob Dewey in the 220 yard dash.

| Vikings |            | Opponents |
|---------|------------|-----------|
| 39      | Alliance   | 79        |
| 54½     | Louisville | 63½       |
| 68      | Lincoln    | 50        |
| 41      | McKinley   | 77        |
| 53      | Massillon  | 65        |

INVITATIONAL MEET

|     |            |     |
|-----|------------|-----|
| 28½ | Massillon  | 53  |
|     | McKinley   | 40½ |
|     | Marlington | 39  |
|     | Louisville | 34  |
|     | Alliance   | 33½ |
|     | Glenwood   | 17½ |
|     | Kenmore    | 10  |
| 54  | Glenwood   | 64  |

The Vikings nucleus was composed of Pat Dewey in the 440 and 880 yard runs as well as in the broad and high jumps, Greg Brown on the low hurdles, Chuck Tifft in the mile run, Barry Miller in the 100 and 220 yard sprints, Tom Hiner in the high jump, and Bill Dimit in the two mile run. These tracksters have prepared for a well-planned and bright future.

Golfers Remain District Champions

The Viking golf team repeated as District Champions for the second straight year. Led by seniors Greg Fischer, Greg Weida, and Randy Ingold and junior Bob Erdman, the Hoover golfers proved to be the "fear-some foursome" on the Stark County golf links.

Golf coach, Mr. Jack Yost, displays the District trophy and instructs Bob Erdman in a few basics.

G.A.A. Offers Sports Activities To Girls

The Girls' Activities Association was the source of many activities. Some of the year's activities were interscholastic basketball, a swimming party, a roller skating party, a Dad-Daughter Date Night, a spring banquet, and an interscholastic track meet. The officers and the adviser, Miss Dawn Shoemaker, worked in a unified manner to make these activities successful.

an exciting future

Not so very long ago, "Hoover" was another way to say "vacuum cleaner". It still is, but that's not all. Today, the Hoover trademark appears on dozens of different products—from washing machines to toasters. These products are made on five continents and sold in 100 different countries to 40 million customers, but they all have one thing in common . . . quality. The men and women of The Hoover Company have always showed a determination to do their best, and produce the best. This is the most important single reason for The Hoover Company's proud past, and exciting future.

Next year could be worth $35,000 to you.

If you're about to enter your senior year, there's a good chance it will... but you must remain in school, and earn a high school diploma.

Who says so? The U.S. Census Bureau. Its figures show graduates earn about $35,000 more before they retire than those who drop out in the first three years.

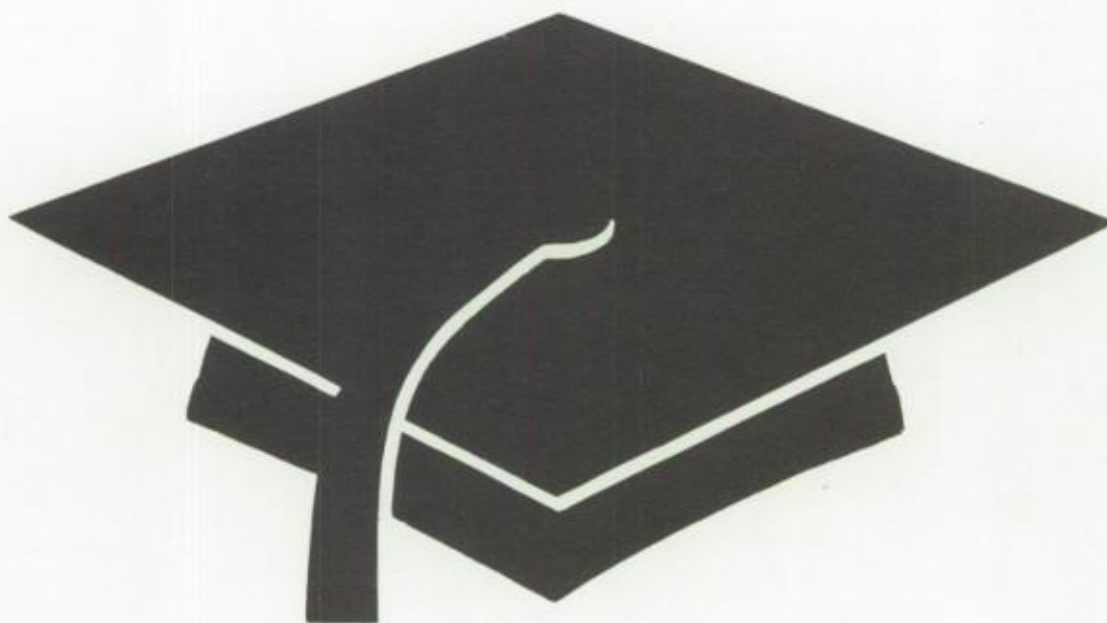

Sure, a diploma's no guarantee of a good job. But personnel managers do ask themselves: "If he didn't finish high school, how do I know he'll stick it out here?"

Remember. Unemployment among dropouts is twice that of the general population. And dropouts stay unemployed longer!

Yet, despite these disturbing statistics, three of ten high school students leave without diplomas. Some 750,000 high school students will quit next year.

Can you afford to be one of them?

Our special thanks goes to our advisers, Mrs. Sue Kirek and Mr. Rex Spaulding, who aided us in the absence of Mrs. Kirek during the second semester.

We have appreciated the outstanding photography of Troup and Pluto Studio Inc. and also the assistance given to us by Consolidated Graphic Arts.

In planning this annual, we set our sights on a star that sparkled in the distance. As we worked, clouds of pressure, details, and disappointment often obstructed our view of this star. Often times it seemed we regressed in our journey. Now, with all the work done and lying here before us we feel a sense of nonfulfillment. As we sit here, however, we know we have not really failed. We have instead learned much about literary styles, organization, and greatest of all, people. We hope that you will use your imagination and with it have an insight into our endeavors.
